

The Data That Powers Healthcare

DataSpring, powered by CAQH, is the trusted data connector at the core of healthcare. It brings together the mission, data foundation, and industry trust of CAQH with a modern, scalable, and innovation-ready operating model.

For more than 25 years, we have strengthened the healthcare system with the largest healthcare data foundation in the United States. As the institutional steward of provider and member data, we play an indispensable role in healthcare, enabling the industry to operate with trust, accuracy, and scale.

Today, healthcare is transforming rapidly. Expectations are higher. Complexity is greater. The need for speed, certainty, and interoperability has never been more urgent.

DataSpring supports the essential work of clinicians, health plans, policymakers, and partners, by ensuring the data behind healthcare is accurate, connected, and trusted.

DataSpring supports a more connected healthcare ecosystem so the industry can operate more efficiently and deliver better experiences and outcomes for all.

Entrusted by Providers and Payers

DataSpring powers the industry with accurate, authorized data sourced directly from clinicians and health plans. As the connector at the core of the industry, we ensure this high-quality data moves reliably across the system so organizations can operate more efficiently, with speed and certainty.
